In keeping with the need of the present-day economy, the Institute has launched Master's Degree programmes in Financial Economics, Agribusiness Economics, and a new programme in International Business Economics & Finance.

M. Sc. (Economics)

The M. Sc. (Economics) programme offered at the Institute comprises twenty papers, spread over four semesters. The curricular content of the programme exposes students to basic concepts in economic theory and practice, quantitative techniques, emerging theories and empirical research which equip them to apply acquired knowledge to interpret diverse real world situations.

The programme is designed to develop among students a strong, broad-based academic foundation in economic theory and its application as well as excellent transferable skills that enhance their professional prospects in the banking, finance and business analytics sectors, corporate organizations, government and non-government establishments and regulatory agencies, national and international development agencies., etc.

M. Sc. (Financial Economics)

The M. Sc. (Financial Economics) programme is designed to meet the increasing demand in this domain, by combining solid training in economic theory with practical exposure to the field of finance through a variety of specialized options. The course is especially distinctive in the link it establishes between economic theory, quantitative finance and financial regulation.

The M. Sc. (Financial Economics) programme is distinct from the conventional finance programmes, notably on account of its emphasis on the three-way linkage between macroeconomics, financial markets and financial regulations. Inputs in quantitative finance in the form of compulsory papers in Financial Economics, Computational Finance and Financial Engineering are highlights of the programme. In addition, the programme provides for full length courses on Project Appraisal & Finance, Structural Products, M&A, and Investment Banking, among others.

M. Sc. (Agribusiness Economics)

The M. Sc. (Agribusiness Economics) programme prepares students for careers in the agribusiness sector, both as officers in agribusiness organizations, and as economists in agribusiness related research organizations. The academic content of the program has three major modules: an Economics module, a Management module, and an Agribusiness module. The economics module equips students with the core economics principles as well as advanced quantitative techniques that are the basic tools used to analyze questions of business and policy. The agribusiness module complements these tools with a broad grasp of the current theory, data, and issues (both business as well as policy) surrounding the agribusiness sector in India. The management module provides students with an overview of essential managerial skills such as accounting, finance, marketing, supply chain management, risk management, and insurance.

The three modules together provide students with the necessary theoretical knowledge to embark on a successful career as officers in agribusiness organizations, or as economists in agribusiness related research organizations. In addition to numerous field trips during the program, students hone their practical skills in a 2 month internship with leading sector organizations at the end of the first year of the program.

M. Sc. (International Business Economics & Finance)

This programme is a unique course designed for careers in international trade, foreign portfolio investment, foreign direct investment, international technical/financial collaboration and joint ventures, international finance and portfolio management, etc. In addition to the learning of advanced economic theory and its applications, the curricular structure of the programme is designed to provide critical learning in the domain of international trade policy, practices and regulations, international corporate finance, international economic institutions, etc.

The Institute also supplements the core academic programmes with a Certificate Course in Computer Applications for Economic Analysis.

Students of the Institute are employed in academic research institutions, international agencies, non-governmental agencies working in developmental issues, financial institutions, forecasting companies, analytic firms, insurance companies, banking sector, retail sector companies, consulting firms, economic journalism, etc.
